Objectives

1. Highlight the role of social innovations in health to respond to COVID-19 from the SIHI network
2. Identify key enabling factors and partnerships for social innovations to respond to health emergencies
3. Discuss how these successful experiences could potentially be adapted to respond to future health emergencies

Social innovation in health

An inclusive solution that meets the needs of end users through a multi-stakeholder, community-engaged process to address the health care delivery gap.¹

SIHI Support

The SIHI network is supported by TDR, the Special Programme for Research and Training in Tropical Disease, co-sponsored by UNDP, UNICEF, the World Bank and WHO. TDR is able to conduct its work thanks to the commitment and support from a variety of funders. For the full list of TDR donors, please see:

<https://www.who.int/tdr/about/funding/en/> . TDR receives additional funding from Sida, the Swedish International Development Cooperation Agency, to support SIHI.

Thank you!

A woman in a yellow and pink sari stands in the foreground of a village scene. In the background, there are several huts with thatched roofs, laundry hanging on lines, and two other women sitting on a ledge. The scene is set in a rural area with trees and hills in the distance.
