About the course

After the success of the 6th editions of the Antimicrobial Resistance Course (AMR) – A One Health Challenge, the 7th edition of the AMR course will take place from November 9–13, 2026 at Les Pensières Center for Global Health in Veyrier du Lac, France.

The course advocates for the value of the One Health approach to fight against AMR and builds capacity for critical decision-making in low- and middle-income countries through education, partnerships and networks.

Organized by

The Mérieux Foundation and Université Paris Cité

Course director

Emeritus Professor Antoine Andremont

The program is based on the five WHO-AMR-GAP objectives (one objective per day):

Day 1

The role of antibiotics and the current challenges – improving awareness and understanding of antimicrobial resistance

Day 2

Strengthen knowledge and evidence through monitoring & surveillance

Day 3

Multi-sectoral Interventions to tackle AMR

Day 4

Optimize the use of antimicrobial medicines in human and animal health

Day 5

Social sciences, regulation and the economic case for global sustainable investment to tackle AMR

WHO SHOULD APPLY?

Health professionals, scientists, policy makers, government and technical leads for the development and implementation of multisectoral national action plans (NAP) on antimicrobial resistance across the human, animal, agriculture and environment sectors from low- and middle-income countries to combat AMR.
